Callie: attached are the slides I will be presenting remotely at the RTOC/TSC next week. Based on our previous experience with tribal audiences (and our Communications Strategy), I have the following talking points for you to consider conveying as appropriate:

Ex. 5 Deliberative Process (DP)

Below is the webinar information I believe I sent you earlier this week:

Douglas and Valois:

Thanks again to the both of you. I have worked out with the Science Council that Douglas will be the only presenter on this issue. RTOC and Science Council will be meeting at the same time for this presentation.

We will try to do the presentation via webinar. More on that later.

Thanks Valois: It looks like I could have up to 45 minutes but I think this number of slides would still work. I did add reference to the Tribal Science Council on the first slide and will let you know if I have any further comments, etc. next week before I provide Callie a final version.

I will also need to find someone to work with to ensure I can connect remotely into the joint meeting.

Hi Douglas,

I put together some slides for the RTOC presentation. It looks like there is about 15 minutes allotted for the presentation. Feel free to edit.

On the picture slides, I added some notes. They are visible if you click on "Notes" along that bottom ribbon.

On the word slides I have each point appear individually as you click. I think that helps the audience focus on the individual points one at a time, but if you would like me to remove that feature, I can.

Thanks for doing the presentation!
